Common Knowledge session
Aleph Enhancements Process

Gerard Bennett

3rd Annual Meeting, Madrid

September 2008

Main features

- Well established
- Works – but slowly – time from proposal to delivery is long
- Focus is minor developments
- Some on a larger scale: Course Reserves; Staff privileges
- Not unified with ELUNA process; but coordination is improving
- Guaranteed quotient of development days from Ex Libris
- Dev days is per version – versions now every 2 year
- User see this as a loss and want to see it increased.

Concerns

- The wider picture:
- Acute understanding that the real action is elsewhere:
  - Primo & URM
  - OPAC accessibility pushed back as an example of this
  - Aleph OPAC functionality in Primo taking priority
- APWG will continue to use the process as well as possible
  - With a strong team in the APWG
  - Using the positive features of the Development Agreement
  - And strengthening coordination with ELUNA
