DIY for Academics

Achieving Self-Management in Leganto
Kirstie Nicholson
University of Western Australia (UWA)
Coordinator, Discovery
Self-Management

Unit Coordinators creating, editing and submitting lists in Leganto

Autonomy for Unit Coordinators

Work efficiencies for Library
DIY for Academics

- Implementation
- Australian Experience
- Challenges and Plans
DIY for Academics

Implementation

Australian Experience

Challenges and Plans
Implementation

Old System & Reasons for Change
Lists submitted via email

Lists created in Alma Course Reserves

Student access via Primo

List processing team liaised with Unit Coordinators
Temporary system now permanent
Essential items only
Unit Coordinator interaction
Low usage
100% library-managed
Inefficient to process
Implementation

Old System & Reasons for Change

New Service Model
Self-management encouraged & supported
Student access via Learning Management System
Non-essential items on lists
Engagement Librarians liaise with Unit Coordinators
Don't want to learn new system
Too busy to self-manage
Want the Library to create lists
Won't use Leganto
Previous implementations

Academics busy and under pressure
Lack of administration staff
Another system launching at the same time
Previous implementations
Library-managed list option
10 Unit Pilot

Full implementation in July 2018

Unit Readings

Existing lists rolled over

Discovery & Engagement staff
97% lists self-managed in 2018

99.5% lists self-managed in Semester 1 2019

Library managed list option for regional campus, overseas location and training obstacles
I'm loving this interface - so intuitive and easy-to-use compared with the previous CMO

It's easy to use, easy to integrate with LMS. Most of all it's fast and responsive. You can make a variety of resources—online journal articles, print books, e-book chapters—available quickly, without the long lag and turnaround times.
Implementation

Old System & Reasons for Change

Implementation

New Service Model

Results

Why it worked
7 Unit Coordinators, 10 Units
Unit Coordinator Champions
Survey comments
Confidence boost
Affirmed self-management
One-on-one training
Leganto functionality
All Library staff invested
Roles well-delineated
Confident in benefits
Librarians equipped to support Unit Coordinators
Top down approach
Create awareness
High level
Used best Library to Faculty contact point
University supported project

Library supporting unit preparation

Benefits and why academics should be on board
Emailed lists cue for liaison

Library managed lists as last resort
Leganto functionality
Library Staff confidence
Communication strategy
Library managed lists used as liaison opportunity
Implementation

Old System & Reasons for Change

Implementation

New Service Model

Results

Why it worked
DIY for Academics

Implementation

Australian Experience

Challenges and Plans