

Day 2 - Leganto Product Update (joint APAC & EMEA)

Q. Will we need student consent for activating the Student Success Measurements features?

A. As with all of Ex Libris' services, it is up to your institutions to make any determination as to what legal steps may be needed to allow particular types of student personal information to be stored and used on the service and whether this requires consent or any other mechanism. This applies as well to an institution's use of the Student Success Measurements feature and to the use of an institution's other systems that store and process personal information. If you have any concerns, you should consult with your privacy advisors as to what may be required for your particular institution.

Q. Do you have an Endnote integration?

A. We do offer the following options for integration:

- You can export the Leganto list to an EndNote format and import it to EndNote.
- You can also import a list from EndNote using .RIS format.

Since EndNote does not have API, we don't have the seamless integration we have with other reference managers.
