University of Oxford and The Bodleian Libraries

- Bodleian Library, built in 1602, now one of 96 libraries across Oxford
- Currently 699 Alma users
- Oxford has 26,000+ students but also attracts researchers from across the world
- 1m searches a week of SOLO (Primo VE) in term time, from over 200 countries

What I would like to achieve...

- Give back to the IGELU community after nearly a decade of benefitting from the invaluable information and member support it provides
- Help to facilitate effective product development discussions and collaboration between the community and Clarivate
- Participate fully in the organization of IGELU Conferences
- Utilise Oxford's complex Alma and Primo implementation, and experienced Library Systems team, as a proving ground for use cases and problem solving
- Strengthen partnerships within development community to drive further innovation and help bring shareable solutions to all
